Informed Consent-General—We will give specific info as well, if we use any particular medication etc.

Informed Consent Regarding Nutritional and Herbal Supplements & Lab Testing

According to the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended, Section 201(g)(1), the term drug is defined as an "article intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease." Technically, vitamins, minerals, trace elements, amino acids, herbs, or homeopathic remedies are not classified as drugs. However, these substances can have significant effects on physiology and must be used rationally. In this office, we provide nutritional counseling and make individualized recommendations regarding use of these substances in order to upgrade the quality of foods in a patient's diet and to supply nutrition to support the physiological and biomechanical processes of the human body. Although these products may also be suggested with a specific therapeutic purpose in mind, their use is chiefly designed to support given aspects of metabolic function. Use of nutritional supplements may be safely recommended for patients already using pharmaceutical medications (drugs), but some potentially harmful interactions may occur. For this reason, it is important to keep all of your healthcare providers fully informed about all medications and nutritional supplements, herbs, or hormones you may be taking.

Sale of Nutritional Supplements Affiliated Psychiatric Medical Group inc

You are under no obligation to purchase nutritional supplements at our clinic.

As a service to you, we make nutritional supplements available in our office. We purchase these products only from manufacturers who have gained our confidence through considerable research and experience. We determine quality by considering: (1) the quality of science behind the product; (2) the quality of the ingredients themselves; (3) the quality of the manufacturing process; and (4) the synergism among product components. The brands of supplements that we carry in our facility are those that meet our high standards and tend to produce predictable results.

While these supplements may come at a higher financial cost than those found on the shelves of pharmacies or health food stores, the value must also include assurance of their purity, quality, bioavailability (ability to be properly absorbed and utilized by the body), and effectiveness. The chief reason we make these products available is to ensure quality. You are not guaranteed the same level of quality when you purchase your supplements from the general marketplace. We are not suggesting that such products have no value; however, given the lack of stringent testing requirements for dietary supplements, product quality varies widely.

Functional Medicine Laboratory Testing Informed Consent

The purpose of functional medicine laboratory testing in our office is to evaluate nutritional, biochemical, or physiological imbalance and to determine any need for medical referral. These lab tests in our office are not intended to diagnose disease. This office utilizes conventional lab tests as well as functional medicine assessment.

Functional medicine assessment is designed to assist our doctors and other healthcare providers in finding the underlying causes of your condition. Functional medicine has evolved through the efforts of scientists and clinicians from the fields of clinical nutrition, molecular biology, biochemistry, physiology, conventional medicine, and a wide array of scientific disciplines. Functional medicine evaluates the body as a whole, with special attention to the relationship of one body system to another and the nutrient imbalances and toxic overload that may adversely affect these relationships.

Initial Evaluation 3

To my patients: Regarding the use of off label medications. Please ask questions.

Medications are developed and approved by the food and drug administration (FDA). They are given specific indications for specific uses based upon very detailed and expensive testing. We want to make sure they are safe and work. Often times we have found that medications are effective when used in situations called off-label. This means they are not FDA approved but have been shown to be helpful and much literature exists to support the use of medicines off label. For example there is no medicine indicated for the treatment of Bipolar Disorder in very young Children or behavioral disruptive conditions or autistic spectrum disorders. Yet we must treat these conditions.

In addition, I use caution to use combinations or supplements and or medications that are often helpful and result in increased effectiveness for a multitude of conditions such as unusual pain disorders, ADHD, ADD, Bi-Polar Disorder, Anxiety Disorder, Panic Attacks, oppositional defiant disorder, Bi-Polar Spectrum Disorder, Depression, Dysthymia, and others like behavioral loss of control, irritability, temper, rages, anger, impulsivity, lack of attention, low frustration tolerance, etc. Furthermore, combinations of medications are often better than a high dose of one medication. There are not always FDA studies for these combinations. I encourage you to ask questions and look up anything you wish on the internet or consult other sources of information.

Though side effects are common with all medications, it is important to distinguish between side effects that are inconvenient and those that are dangerous. Inconvenient would be a slight bit of nausea or transient trouble falling asleep. Dangerous side effects can cause irreversible damage. So I try to be as careful with you as I would with my own family even if the chances of a problem are 1 in 1000 or 100,000 or 1,000,000. Side effects can happen, I will and we must always weigh risks and benefits.

If a blood test is helpful, I will give you a prescription for one. If you have any unusual symptoms that are very mild, they will most likely go away. If you have any that concern you an e-mail is helpful for non urgent issues, but for urgent issues please CALL. I try to be very available and return my phone calls daily...…please don't call it an emergency unless it is one. If ever in doubt and you can't reach me or my associate, go directly to an emergency room.

The medications and supplements I use help a person's brain chemistry function more normally. I never have the goal of turning someone into a zombie or making them zoned out.

Examples:

1. Mood Stabilizers…originally used for epilepsy. Many are approved for Bipolar disorder and migraine. Most of my patients never get any serious side effects and even the inconvenient ones are reduced because we start with a low dose and increase very slowly. Examples are:

a. Depakote…requires blood tests to check blood level, blood and liver function.
b. Tegretol…requires blood tests to check blood level, blood and liver function.
c. Gabitril…no tests required.
d. Neurontin and Lyrica…no tests required
e. Topamax…no tests …rare kidney stones..rare increased eye pressure.
f. Lamictal……can rarely cause a rash…..notify me at once and stop the medicine.
g. Lithium….. Requires blood test for thyroid, kidney function and blood level of lithium…
h. Zonegran …no tests
i. Trileptal … a rare rash, can lower effect of birth control pills,
j. And others. Although it is very uncommon, if you get a rash while taking any of the above medicines…stop it at once and call me.

Initial Evaluation 4

2. Atypical Anti-psychotic Medications: These are used for severe psychiatric disorders in high doses. They have been shown to be effective in low doses in combination or alone for many of the disorders I have noted above. These medications include:
    a. Risperdal…rarely increases prolactin…we can test for this
    b. Zyprexa….most likely to cause weight gain.
    c. Seroquel….can be used at times in low doses for sleep
    d. Geodon...may require a electrocardiogram---uncommon
    e. Abilify…rarely can cause muscle stiffness or drooling
    f. Invega...similar to Risperdal…but less sedation and given in the am.
    g. Clozapine…requires frequent blood monitoring Thorazine (chlorpromazine), Mellaril, Stelazine, Navane and others are "typical" anti-psychotic medications we sometimes use for off label use.
3. Medications usually used for blood pressure control:
    a. Clonidine (catapress) is often useful for impulse control, pain and tic disorders.
    b. Tenex…often used for impulse control
    c. Beta Blockers such as inderol, propranolol, atenolol, viskin, zebeta and others for headaches and for impulse control and rapid heart beat or tremor.

4. We may also use medicines for sleep like Trazodone (desyrel), or muscle pain (soma, or robaxin), and various other medicine for a detox from various drugs or alcohol. Or we may use Xyrem (a medicine for narcolepsy) to help with the pain for Fibromyalgia. (off label)

5. We may also use medication for Attention Deficit Disorder and Oppositional Defiant Disorder that include a combination of medications such as a psycho stimulant, a mood stabilizer or an SSRI/SNRI like Prozac, Paxil, Effexor, Celexa, Zoloft and other medications that are appropriate. ALWAYS LET US KNOW WHAT HERBS OR OVER THE COUNTER MEDICATIONS OR VITAMINS YOU USE.

    a. The FDA notes that stimulants may have a slight increased incidence of cardiac (heart) side effects in patients that have a structural defect, heart irregularities, hypertension that is not controlled and frequent bouts of dizziness, fainting, chest pain, rapid heart beat or history of heart attack. Please let me know if you know of any issues related to this. Let us know if there is any history of heart problems in you or your first degree family relatives. In this instance an EKG or physical exam from your primary care doctor or pediatrician may be indicated.

    b. The FDA also notes that very rarely Psychosis, Aggression, and severe behavioral disorders can occur with stimulants. If any this should happen while you are first taking stimulants or any time, please let us know at once.

    c. Finally there is the issue of growth. In a 3 year study it was noted that on average children lost 5 pounds compared to children not on stimulants and grew about ¾ of an inch less. Studies are underway to see if this changes their total height as an adult.

    6.As it relates to taking anti depressants in children and adolescents;
    Rarely there is an increase in suicidal thinking in children and adolescents who have been started on anti depressant. Of course they did not feel well in the first place, and it is thought that the increase in this thinking is due to the activating effect of the medications (especially in the first weeks on the medication).
    With this in mind, it is important to monitor children more closely when first starting these medications. If there is any doubt please contact us at once.

There are other examples and I will explain if I/we…use any others. This list is not inclusive and I may use unusual combinations of medications to achieve goals which we will discuss. I will always be happy to explain what I am doing and why. Just ask.

INFORMED CONSENT I have been told that medications, supplements, testing, etc. as described above may be used off label. I have had an opportunity to ask questions and have been told about common side effects. Furthermore, I know how to reach the doctor in an emergency.
